BUSINESS REPORT
(from April 1, 2019 to March 31, 2020)

1. Matters Concerning Current Status of Corporate Group

(1) Progression of Business and its Results

The world economy generally maintained its moderate expansion trend until the third quarter due to, e.g., a steady economic recovery in the U.S. However, since January this year, COVID-19 became a worldwide pandemic; and economic activities sharply declined. Regarding the Japanese economy as well, although personal consumption recovered in the first half due to improvement of, e.g., the employment environment, nevertheless due to the consumption tax rate increase in October last year, consumer expenditure began to decline. In addition, in the fourth quarter, due to, e.g., COVID-19, the Japanese economy turned out to be more severe.

The business environment for the Group was very severe due to, e.g., a decrease in production of automobiles and sales of smartphones, a decline in the price of optical fiber cables, a stronger yen, and a fall in the price of copper, as well as a sudden slowdown of economic activities due to COVID-19 in the fourth quarter. In this environment, regarding the consolidated financial settlement for this fiscal year, net sales decreased from the preceding fiscal year to 3,107,027 million yen (preceding fiscal year: 3,177,985 million yen, -2.2%). Operating income amounted to no more than 127,216 million yen (preceding fiscal year: 166,260 million yen, -23.5%), despite our best efforts in global cost reductions, due to, e.g., a decrease in sales, an increase in depreciation and amortization expenses for the future, price reduction, and an increase in cost for the launch of production of some products in the Automotive segment, as well as deterioration in profitability associated with a sudden decrease in production due to the expansion of COVID-19. Ordinary income was 130,498 million yen (preceding fiscal year: 188,649 million yen, -30.8%), and the profit attributable to owners of the parent was 72,720 million yen (preceding fiscal year: 118,063 million yen, -38.4%), each of which resulted in the amount below the amount in the preceding fiscal year.

The following section is a report giving an outline of each segment.

(i) The Automotive Segment

Despite proactively proceeding with marketing for wiring harnesses and car electronic components, because of a considerable decline in demand due to COVID-19 in the fourth quarter, net sales decreased by 25,796 million yen (1.5%) to 1,683,630 million yen. Operating income decreased by 16,456 million yen to 68,213 million yen due to, e.g., in addition to a price reduction and an increase in depreciation and amortization expenses for the future, an increase in cost for the launch of production of some products, a stronger yen, as well as deterioration in profitability associated with a sudden decrease in production due to the expansion of COVID-19.

(ii) The Infocommunications Segment

Net sales increased by 8,981 million yen (4.3%) to 217,401 million yen due to an increase in demand for products such as optical/electronic devices and access network equipment. Operating income increased by 1,437 million yen to 17,835 million yen due to absorption of the price reduction in optical fiber cables by an increase in sales and cost reductions due to productivity improvement.

(iii) The Electronics Segment

Net sales increased by 23,237 million yen (10.2%) to 252,170 million yen despite a decrease in demand for FPCs (flexible printed circuits) for mobile devices on the one hand, as a result of making TECHNO ASSOCIE Co., Ltd. a subsidiary of the Company in this fiscal year on the other hand. Operating income decreased by 6,480 million yen to 536 million yen, due to a decrease in sales of FPCs for mobile devices and a decline in demand due to COVID-19 in the fourth quarter.

(iv) The Environment and Energy Segment

Net sales decreased by 47,243 million yen (6.2%) to 712,543 million yen, due to the fall in the price of copper, in addition to a decrease in large projects of power cables and charged beam equipment and the processing of Nissin Electric Co., Ltd. in the transitional period of shipping. Operating income decreased by 2,948 million yen to 27,114 million yen due to the decrease in sales.

(v) The Industrial Materials Segment and Others

Due to a reduction in demand for cemented carbide tools, diamond and CBN tools, sintered powder metal parts for automobiles, semiconductors heat-spreader materials, net sales decreased by 26,474 million yen (7.4%) to 331,350 million yen. Operating income decreased by 14,768 million yen to 13,425 million yen, due to deterioration in profitability associated with a decrease in the operation rate of factories.

(2) Conditions of Capital Expenditure

The total amount of capital expenditure for this fiscal year was 208.8 billion yen. The following list shows the breakdown of capital expenditure by segment.

Segment	Amount of Capital Expenditure (billions of yen)	Main Content of Capital Expenditure
Automotive	111.5	Increased production of and rationalization investment in wiring harnesses and anti-vibration rubbers

(3) Fund-raising

The Group raised funds through the issuance of corporate bonds of 30.0 billion yen and long-term loans of 14.5 billion yen and through other means. The purpose of such fund-raising was allocation to repayment of long-term borrowings and equipment funds, etc.

(4) Key Issues Requiring Attention

Regarding the economic situation hereafter, there is concern that the sluggish economic situation will be prolonged due to protraction and aggravation of COVID-19, and the trade policy in the U.S. and China and political and geopolitical risks such as the situation in the Middle East also remain grounds for concern; therefore, the outlook is expected to remain unclear.

In these circumstances, in order to overcome the unprecedented difficulty and return to a growth trajectory again, the Group intends to do its utmost to maintain and ensure employees' health and safety and the supply chain, and strive for further improvement of the basics of the manufacturing industry, "S" (Safety), "E" (Environment), "Q" (Quality), "C" (Cost), "D" (Delivery), and "D" (Development), and to implement "business structural reform for profitability improvement" and "workstyle reform for productivity improvement." By doing so, we intend to establish a strong corporate structure that can tolerate any environment and endeavor to achieve "VISION 2022", the mid-term management plan ending in 2022, on which we are working with a concept of "Contributing to a better society by leveraging our expertise in connectivity and transmission technologies through concerted efforts of the entire group" aiming to become a "Glorious Excellent Company." In particular, we are pursuing the following strategies in each of our business segments.

In the Automotive segment, with regard to a reduction in global automotive demand due to COVID-19, the Group anticipates a future demand recovery and will adjust production capacity flexibly and strive for further cost reduction activities intensively, and proceed to rebuild a lean corporate structure. For the realization of a mega supplier, having wiring harnesses as its core, the Group will create new products related to so-called CASE* such as products designed for electric vehicles including high-voltage wiring harnesses, electronic components corresponding to electronic control of automobiles and connectors for high-speed communication, and expedite the use of more aluminum for harnesses corresponding to the needs of weight reduction; moreover, it will strive to further expand its market share for overseas customers. Sumitomo Riko Company Limited will continuously work on global marketing and a recovery of profitability by improving productivity and cost reductions in the field of automotive anti-vibration rubbers and hoses, and it is also focusing on developing new products for the next-generation vehicles.

In the Infocommunications segment, we will ensure to respond to demand for optical/electronic devices and optical fiber cables due to an increase of communication data volume and the market launch of a fifth-generation mobile communications system, and strive to develop and market high-performance products that respond to market needs, such as extra low loss optical fibers for submarine cables, products related to data centers such as ultra-high-fiber-count optical fiber cables and optical wiring equipment, 4K compatible video distribution, and access network equipment related to 10G-EPON (optical fiber shared type 10 Gigabit network). In addition, we will proceed with further cost reductions including optical fiber cables regarding which price competition is intensifying.

In the Electronics segment, with regard to FPCs, we will continuously strive for a recovery of profitability through optimization of global production organization and productivity improvement, and we will focus on marketing for automobiles and development of new products such as being thin and compatible with high frequency. Other than the above, we will proceed with strengthening global marketing and production capacity of leads (tab leads) used for battery terminals of electric vehicles and strive to continue capturing various needs for irradiation tubes. In addition, we will strive for prompt realization of business synergies with TECHNO ASSOCIE Co., Ltd., which we made our subsidiary by means of a tender offer in September last year.

In the Environment and Energy segment, with regard to power cables, we will ensure that we secure new large-scale projects overseas, domestic renewable energy projects, and the demand in renewal of facilities, and strive for further cost reductions and profitability improvement. In addition, with regard to flat magnet wires for motors used in electric vehicles, we will proceed with strengthening global production capacity corresponding to an increase in demand. Furthermore, we will strive to expand domestic and international orders, while taking advantage of the Group's integrated capabilities, including Nissin Electric Co., Ltd. and Sumitomo Densetsu Co., Ltd.

In the Industrial Materials segment, with regard to the cemented carbide tools, in addition to the main automobiles, we will globally strengthen marketability in the field of construction machinery, agricultural machinery, and electronics and will proceed with marketing by injecting new products such as tools for the machining of difficult-to-cut materials into the aircraft and medical care fields. We will work to further strengthen marketing and cost competitiveness of sintered powder metal parts by leveraging the production base that is developing globally, and continue to focus on the strengthening of the production organization and marketing for tensioning materials for prestressed concrete and precision spring steel wires. In addition, with regard to a reduction in demand due to COVID-19, we will promote operational improvements, such as thorough productivity improvement, integration and consolidation of bases, and retraining of employees (reinforced human resource training) in order to further strengthen the business structure on this occasion.

In research and development activities, we will make efforts to create new businesses and products that are original and excel in profitability. This includes the prompt commercialization of magnesium alloy products, water-treatment systems, superconducting products, SiC (silicon carbide) power semiconductor devices, redox flow batteries, concentrator photovoltaic systems and so on, and we will continuously strive for development of next-generation products that support the current five business segments and development of new manufacturing methods. Also, taking a long-term perspective, we will focus on developing new products in response to society's needs, including strengthening the development organization of on-board equipment that is compatible with automated driving and electric vehicles and searching for new materials with new functions by utilizing outside knowledge through collaboration with academia, industry, government, and so on; as well as working proactively for production innovation by utilizing AI* and IoT* at manufacturing sites.

Ultimately, we believe that compliance with laws and regulations and maintaining corporate ethics constitute the foundation of the Company's management, and that they are the absolute basis to continue and develop as a corporation. From now on, under the principles of the Sumitomo Spirit, which values doing your sincere best, not only in business but also in every aspect of your life, placing importance on integrity, and not acting rashly or carelessly in pursuit of immoral business, we will make all efforts to ensure that all corporate activities are conducted fairly and honestly and can be trusted by society. In addition, we consider that the Sumitomo Spirit and the Sumitomo Electric Group Corporate Principles share common core values with the SDGs (Sustainable Development Goals); the Group aims to provide various values in order to realize "A safe and secure society," "A green society" and "A comfortable and viable society" through concerted efforts.

We would like to ask our shareholders for your further understanding and support in the future.

1. Earnings per share is computed based on the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding during each period.

2. We have adopted “Leases” (IFRS 16) from the beginning of FY2019 in overseas consolidated subsidiaries excluding the U.S.
3. With respect to FY2016, although demand for products such as automotive wiring harnesses, optical fiber cables, and optical/wireless devices had been mainly steady overseas, due to the fall in demand for FPCs for mobile devices, a stronger yen, and the fall in the price of copper, net sales decreased from the preceding fiscal year. However, as a result of proceeding with global cost reductions and developing and marketing new products, operating income, ordinary income, and the profit attributable to owners of the parent increased from the preceding fiscal year.
4. With respect to FY2018, the decrease in production of automobiles in China and Europe has become prominent since the second half of FY2018, and despite the worldwide underperformance of smartphone sales and a fade in demand in some parts of the cemented carbide tools markets, the first half generally showed steady growth. Therefore, net sales increased from the preceding fiscal year. However, due to price reductions in the automobile industry and factors that increase costs such as additional duties between the U.S. and China, in addition to an increase in research and development costs for the future, operating income, ordinary income, and the profit attributable to owners of the parent decreased from the preceding fiscal year.
5. With respect to FY2019, please see “(1) Progression of Business and its Results” above.
